National Indian Gaming Association (NIGA) Selects Wyndham Jade

Dallas, Texas - February 2, 2009 – The National Indian Gaming Association recently selected Wyndham Jade to provide housing, registration and lead retrieval services for Indian Gaming '09, its Annual Trade Show and Convention. This year's event will take place in Phoenix, AZ over the dates of April 13-16. The organization, established in 1985, serves 184 Indian Nations with tribes and businesses engaged in tribal gaming enterprises from around the country. The event will convene nearly 6,000 attendees and exhibitors and offer a variety of training and networking sessions.

The organization cited its most compelling reasons for selecting Wyndham Jade to be the variety of services offered through one company, the level of commitment demonstrated during bidding to help NIGA meet its event-related goals, and a great partnership fit based on Wyndham Jade's business philosophy.

The common commitment and purpose of NIGA is to advance the lives of Indian peoples economically, socially and politically. NIGA operates as a clearinghouse and educational, legislative and public policy resource for tribes, policymakers and the public on Indian gaming issues and tribal community development.

According to Melissa Trangsrud, Wyndham Jade's director, convention housing/registration & incentive sales, "I'm very honored that NIGA has chosen Wyndham Jade to handle its housing and registration for Indian Gaming '09. Wyndham Jade is looking forward to showing them the benefits of working with a full service housing and registration company and hopefully earning their business for years to come."
